<ul> <li>a. The driver, Dennys Rodriguez, refused. However, the officer nonetheless detained him for "seven or eight minutes" until a backup officer arrived. Then, the original officer retrieved his dog.</li> </ul>
b. After sniffing around the car, the dog detected drugs, and Rodriguez was indicted for possessing methamphetamine. In all, the stop lasted less than 30 minutes.	Rodriguez v. United States, 135 S. Ct. 1609 (2015
c. According to the Supreme Court, the search of Rodriguez's car was illegal, and the evidence gathered in it should not be used at trial. While officers may use a dog to sniff around a car during the course of a routine traffic stop, they cannot extend the length of the stop in order to carry it out.	Ultimate Supreme Court Reference
d. Answer- The court held that a police stop exceeding the time needed to handle the matter for which the stop was made constitutes an unreasonable amount of time
e. When conducting a traffic stop, officers may check the driver's license, determine whether there are outstanding warrants against the driver and inspect the automobile registration and proof of insurance. <ul> <li>No, PC to search the vehicle does not extend to body searches of passengers</li> </ul> Class Question, can you conduct a Terry pat down of passenger #1? Why or why not? Answer below
e. Answer, no-there is no reasonable articulable suspicion that the passenger is committing or has committed a crime and is armed with a deadly weapon

Class Question, Can you conduct a Terry pat down of passenger #1, Can you place Passenger #1 into handcuffs? Why or why not? Answer below <ul> <li>f. Answer no, this is an improper seizure. Not only is this not a vaild seizure, placing the female in handcuffs triggers custody and is a de-facto arrest</li> <li>18. (This is what is shown in the video, this is an instructor note, do not say this to the class) Passenger #1 exits the vehicle and complies with giving ID and a pat down, (they are not a valid driver). There is no contraband found on Passenger #1. Passenger #1 is placed into handcuffs. The Officer observes a bag/purse on the floor of the front passenger side. Passenger #1 states that the bag is hers and they do not consent to a search of their property. They also state they were getting a ride and "kind of" know the driver and other occupant</li> </ul>	Continue the video

a. It is worth repeating the placing of handcuffs on passenger #1 is improper Class Question, can you search the bag? Why or Why not? Answer below
b. Answer-no, In Wyoming v. Houghton, 526 U.S. 295 (1999), the USSC held that passengers, no less than drivers, possess a reduced expectation of privacy with regard to the property that they transport in cars. Their property is subject to the automobile exception in PC searches of vehicle, just as much as the driver. Therefore, if PC exists purse may conceal the object of the search – then yes officers may search the purse. In this incident, though, there is no PC that the purse may conceal the object of the search.

Class Question, is the traffic stop alone enough reason to search the bag? Why or Why not?
c. No
d. Arkansas v. Sanders , 442 U.S. 753 (1979), the automobile exception would not be extended to the warrantless search of personal luggage "merely because it was located in an automobile lawfully stopped by the police	https://casetex

b. The reasoning of Carroll concerning the need to permit warrantless search when the evidence or contraband may possibly be removed from the scene due to the mobility of a vehicle "where it is not practicable to secure a warrant" suggested that a warrantless search of a car would be permissible with respect to any type of object for which a warrant to search could be obtained were there time to secure a warrant	Continue the video
21. (This is what is shown in the video, this is an instructor note, do not say this to the class) The bag is searched and no contraband is found. Passenger #1 then asks if they are free to go.
22. Stop the video
a. Question to the class: is Passenger #1 free to go?

<ul> <li>b. Answer-yes, the passenger is now improperly seized. There is no reasonable articulable suspicion that the passenger is or was involved in criminal activity</li> <li>c. Also, PC to search the vehicle does not extend to body searches of passengers</li> <li>23. (This is what is shown in the video, this is an instructor note, do not say this to the class) Passenger #1 is told they are not yet free to leave and Passenger #2 (in back seat) is told twice to step out of the vehicle. They then exit the vehicle reluctantly. The Officer observes that Passenger #2 was sitting on a jacket in the back seat.</li> <li>24. Stop the video</li> </ul>	Continue the video
24. Stop the video
Class question, can you request ID from passenger #2? Do they have to give you their ID? Can you conduct a Terry pat down of passenger #2? Why or Why not?
<ul> <li>a. You can request ID from the passenger, but lawfully the passenger can refuse. Probable cause to search the vehicle does not extend to the body searches of passengers.</li> </ul>
Class Question, can you place Passenger #2 into handcuffs? Answers below	Continue the video <ul> <li>b. No, this would convert this now consensual encounter into a de-facto arrest</li> </ul>
25. (This is what is shown in the video, this is an instructor note, do not say this to the class) Passenger #2 complies with giving ID and a pat down. The officers conduct a search and no contraband found on Passenger #2. Passenger

Class question, what type of search just took place?
<ul> <li>Pat down frisk, keep in mind this is not a consensual search. A reasonable person in this is situation would not feel free to leave after the officers action</li> </ul>
i. Physical contact
ii. Ordering him out of the vehicle
iii. Taking his ID out of his pocket Class question, Is passenger # 2 free to leave? Why or Why not?
	I
<ul> <li>b. Yes, at this point the legal basis of the stop (if not for the officers actions) would have been a consensual encounter</li> </ul>	Continue the video

Class Question, can the officer search the vehicle? Why or Why not?
<ul> <li>a. Yes, the officer can do an inventory prior to a tow. At this point the vehicle will be lawfully impounded. The driver will be going to the county jail and the vehicle will be towed in connection with the arrest</li> </ul>
<ul> <li>Lets be clear, an inventory search of a vehicle is incident to a tow. If officers are not going to tow the vehicle, a inventory search is improper</li> </ul>	Continue the video
