

RAMAT WILEY Profile

Born and raised in Cleveland, Ohio, Ramat Wiley is a culinary creative and owner of Adun Spice Company. Having worn many hats, Ramat served her community as a 911 dispatcher for multiple jurisdictions, completed her degree from Cuyahoga Community College in Hospitality Management with a concentration in Culinary Arts, and is trained as a Food Stylist, working with several local and national food brands.

XRamat fuels her passion for food by drawing on her deep love for community, creativity, and innovation. Whether cooking, rescuing food, working with local farmers, or developing new recipes and sourcing options, Ramat embraces her calling as an advocate and creator helping to build and foster inclusivity amongst other small business owners and entrepreneurs. As a daughter of Cleveland with Nigerian roots, Ramat is excited to work with merchants and community stakeholders to ensure the West Side Market is a thriving assortment of food, culture, and community now and for future generations.